Conventional – When all borrower qualifying income exceeds Fannie Mae / Freddie Mac 80% AMI limits an LLPA applies when Charter (or reduced) MI is used. The borrower must still be within Virginia Housing's expanded income limit. The Charter (or reduced) MI LLPA amount varies depending on credit score and LTV. Refer to the Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac webpages. Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac's AMI limit changes annually (Fannie Mae's DU does not automatically update to the new higher limit with an additional AUS run after an AMI change; to take advantage of a newer limit if it's higher, a new DU casefile ID is required). Note: For Conventional Fannie Mae purchase transactions where the AMI is at or below 80% AMI, the DU findings must show code number 3145 ($\leq 50\%$ AMI) and/or 3143 ($\leq 80\%$ AMI) in the AMI findings. If this code is missing then the lender must confirm the Regular or Enhanced DU is being viewed, not Classic DU; the latter doesn't show any codes even when they exist. If the lender has confirmed the Regular or Enhanced DU also does not show either code, DU must be rerun including the property's FIPs code. Conventional Bond – Unlike the Conventional program (non-bond), there isn't an LLPA for the Charter (or reduced) MI even when all borrower qualifying income exceeds the GSEs' 80% AMI. The borrower must be within Virginia Housing's applicable income limit as indicated above. Reference: Income and Sales Price / Loan Limits, Household Income Matrix, and Program Guidelines

Qualification	Is it acceptable for a borrower to start a new job after closing?	A borrower may start a job after closing as long as all requirements of the GSE / insurer / guarantor are met. If the GSE / insurer / guarantor requires a paystub, Virginia Housing must be in receipt of the paystub prior to loan purchase (and loan purchase must occur before the first payment date).
	Is it acceptable for the seller of a property or other interested party to provide subordinate financing to the borrower to purchase the home? Is it acceptable for the seller of a property or other interested party to provide subordinate financing to the borrower to purchase the home?	In most cases, this is not acceptable; the following requirements below must be adhered to. These guidelines reflect Virginia Housing's interpretation of the requirement set forth by the applicable GSE / insurer / guarantor, who hold ultimate authority over these guidelines. If the Originating Lender has documentation supporting something other than what is below, provide it to Virginia Housing. Conventional first mortgage – • If using Fannie Mae, per the Fannie Mae Selling Guide, a Community Seconds provider must not be the property seller or other interested party to the transaction, except when they are a non-profit, and the provider of a shared equity program or sweat equity program, and all other Community Seconds requirements are met. • If using Freddie Mac, per the Freddie Mac Selling Guide, an Affordable Seconds provider must not be the property seller or other interested party to the transaction, except when they are a nonprofit that has the financial capacity to offer the Affordable Second, and it has income-based resale restrictions meeting Freddie Mac's requirements. • If the loan is a Conventional Bond first mortgage where the property seller or other interested party to the transaction is a non-profit and is also providing subordinate financing meeting all other GSE requirements, submit an exception request to Virginia Housing for consideration. FHA first mortgage – FHA requires the source of subordinate financing be acceptable under Section 203(b)(9)(C) of the National Housing Act, which means the funds for the borrower's minimum required investment (MRI) must not come from the property seller or other interested party, unless the property seller / other interested party is a state or local governments or their agencies or instrumentalities. If this subordinate loan is not covering the borrower's MRI, then there may be additional flexibilities as long as all requirements of the HUD 4000.1 Handbook are met. VA first mortgage – Per the VA Lender Handbook, Chapter 9, consult a VA RLC with jurisdiction over Virginia to determine if the subordinate loan held by a seller or other interested party to the transaction is acceptable. RD first mortgage – Per the RD Handbook 3555, Chapter 16, a lien junior to the guaranteed loan is acceptable even if it is the seller or interested party providing the subordinate financing if it will not interfere with repayment of the loan and has been considered in the underwriting process, the total value of all liens on the property is less than or equal to the property's market value, except when a "soft second" for down payment and /or closing cost assistance creates the overage, and the junior lien is for an authorized loan purpose. Note: It is important to review all documents to confirm the subordinate lienholder name, such as the subordinate loan approval from the lienholder, the Note and Deed of Trust for the subordinate loan, the Closing Disclosure, and title policy.

FHA, FHA Bond, VA, VA Bond, RD and RD Bond – AUS is acceptable but manual underwrites are also acceptable following insurer / guarantor requirements in addition to any more restrictive Virginia Housing. The acquisition costs of a property to be financed may not exceed sales price limits. More information about what is included and not included in acquisition cost can be found in the Origination Guide. One item that is included is the cost of completing unfinished area that is suitable to finish. See the question below for more information. Reference: Origination Guide (Eligibility Requirements, Property Eligibility Requirements) and Program Guidelines

An area designated or intended to be completed or refurbished and used as living space, such as the lower level of a tri-level, the upstairs of a cape cod or an unfinished basement. 	How is the cost to complete unfinished area in a home determined?	The cost to complete unfinished area that is suitable to finish can be determined by either obtaining the cost from the appraiser or by using $75 per square foot for basements and above grade areas. In the event the acquisition cost exceeds Virginia Housing's sales price limit as a result of the estimated cost to complete unfinished area, the Originating Lender must contact Virginia Housing to determine if the residence is eligible. The lender may do so by submitting an exception request. Reference: Origination Guide (Eligibility Requirements, Property Eligibility Requirements)
Property	What is a Federally Targeted Area?	A Federally Targeted Area, or Area of Economic Opportunity, is an area that meets the definition of a qualified census tract or an area of chronic economic distress defined by the IRS / Department of Treasury. To help stimulate growth within these areas Virginia Housing is permitted to relax certain loan program requirements. The borrower does not have to be a first-time homebuyer when this is a requirement of the program. Some, but not all, properties located in a targeted area have higher income and sales price limits. The higher targeted area income limits do not apply to loans originated with the DPA Grant and CCA Grant - the lower income limits for Virginia Housing's DPA / CCA Grants must be used, but the higher sales price limit may be used. The targeted area income and sales price limits do not apply to the non-bond programs that use the expanded income limits and do not have maximum sales price limits. For assistance in determining targeted areas, visit Areas of Economic Opportunity on Virginia Housing's website (link below) or call local city / county planning office. Reference: Origination Guide (Eligibility Requirements; Property Eligibility Requirements) and Areas of Economic Opportunity
